

RED CROSS TO HAVE DEMONSTRATION IN LAFAYETTE SQUARE

Exhibit Will Be Under Auspices of Committee Directing Rollcall.

PLAN 3 SECTIONS

Miss Mabel Boardman Tells of Work Done in Knickerbocker Disaster.

Mobilization of the activities of the District chapter of the American Red Cross in Lafayette Park this afternoon at 2 o'clock will be a feature of the Red Cross work. There will be presented a living picture of the beneficent work of the Red Cross locally, not only for the disabled former service men, but in the community service of various kinds. President Harding is expected to view the demonstration.

Exhibits and demonstrations will be under the women's committee for the sixth annual roll call of the District chapter, headed by Miss Mabel T. Boardman, chairman, who is also secretary of the American National Red Cross. Declaring this demonstration would be the most picturesque ever staged in the District in connection with the Red Cross work, Miss Boardman said last night.

Knickerbocker Disaster.

"The great work of the Red Cross was brought home to Washington during the Knickerbocker Theater disaster last year. A few minutes after the disaster the Red Cross was in active operation. Its doctors, nurses and health aids were called out immediately, medical and surgical supplies rushed from the chapter emergency equipment to the first-aid stations, drugs and hot water bottles the doctors required from nearby pharmacists were paid for by the Red Cross. Extra coats, blankets and linen were hurried to the local hospitals. Hundreds of sweaters, caps and heavy socks were sent to the theater for the soldiers and Marines on rescue work. Such prompt and efficient service as this may save your life, or that of some one you love, at times of such disaster.

"In war, in disaster, in every day life the District cannot get along without the Red Cross. Fire, flood, epidemic or other disasters will find it ready for action and relief, and at all times its training and preparedness are being used in some way or other for the benefit of the people of Washington."

List of Patronesses.

Mrs. Charles E. Hughes will head the patronesses, who will include Mrs. William Phillips, Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss, Mrs. John W. Weeks, Mrs. Edwin Denby, Mrs. Mayhew Wainwright, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Herbert Hoover and Mrs. Elliot Wadsworth.

The east portion of the square will be given over to demonstrations of the work of the Red Cross in the community. The middle portion will be used to demonstrate the ability of the District chapter to meet disaster emergencies.

The west portion will be reserved for exhibits of war work of the Red Cross, showing how the wounded men are cared for on the battle field.

The Junior Red Cross will present a pageant, "Happy Childhood the World Over," and also put on an exhibit of toys, scrapbooks and other comforts made by the District chapter for disabled men and other sufferers.

Profits on Tobacco Stand for Women

Salesmen Fight to Continue Sales Station in Grace Dodge Hotel.

Selling cigars, cigarettes and other smokers' articles in the lobby of the Dodge Hotel, where the women are apparently a profitable occupation.

Andrew G. Pollock, who conducts the tobacco and news stand at the Grace Dodge Hotel, which is operated under the control of the national board of the Young Women's Christian Association, appeared in the District Supreme Court yesterday asking that the managers of the hotel be ordered to renew his lease and that they be restrained from further prosecuting their case in the Municipal Court which provides for his ousting.

Justice Sweeney, of the Supreme Court, directed the management of the hotel to appear on November 24 and show cause why it should not be enjoined from preventing the sale of tobacco and also why the attempt to oust Pollock should not cease.

ARGUES D. C. SETS RATES ILLEGALLY

Charles T. Clayton Says Each Company Should Be Considered Separately.

The Public Utilities Commission is without legal authority to determine street railway rates by considering the combined valuations of the two street railway companies, according to Charles T. Clayton, local attorney representing the Federation of Citizens' Associations in its application for reduced fares on the Capital Traction Company lines.

This opinion was filed with the commission yesterday by Clayton. It has been referred to Francis H. Stephens, corporation counsel, Clayton's argument was backed by citations of cases said to prove the commission's policy is illegal.

Col. Charles Keller, chairman of the commission, declared that he found the law sustaining Clayton's opinion the Commission will be forced to figure rates for the two street railway companies separately.

It is expected William McK. Clayton, chairman of the public utility committee of the federation, will file a brief today to show the Capital Traction Company is earning more than a fair return on its property.

It was announced yesterday that as soon as this brief has been received and digested the Commission will be ready to announce its decision.

CHORUS CONVEYS FAILURE OF AN OPERA

Kingsbery-Foster Opera Company Produces "I Pagliacci."

As given by the Kingsbery-Foster Opera Company, and presented by T. Arthur Smith, Inc., at the President Theater yesterday afternoon, was more like a creditable performance of amateurs than a serious opera. They were accompanied by an orchestra of five pieces, which was entirely inadequate to the beautiful Leoncavallo music, though they did their best, which was surprisingly well, under the circumstances.

The opera was preceded by a pantomime ballet called "An hour before the cock crowed" danced to musical numbers that ranged from the ballet music from "Faust," "The Glorioso" and "Dracula's Serenade" to Grieg. There was one especially graceful little dance with bubbling Carlos's famous "Cello," was taken by Rhy: Morgan, whose voice is not big enough for the demand on it, though it has sweetness and he knows his part. "Nedda," the devoted wife, was sung by Lydia Morgan, who has a very expressive face and has a very expressive face.

The best voice of the cast was Felice de Gregorio, who sang the part of the famous "Cello," was taken by Rhy: Morgan, whose voice is not big enough for the demand on it, though it has sweetness and he knows his part. KEITH'S WILL GIVE FUND TO WAR HERO

N. Y. Branch to Present More Than $7,000 for Lifting Woodfill's Mortgage.

At the Palace Theater, New York, tonight, the hero of the world war, Sgt. Samuel Woodfill, will be presented with a fund, collected by the Keith theaters throughout the United States, with which to lift the mortgage on his Kentucky farm. The amount is sufficient to wipe out the indebtedness and leave him a cash balance of $7,000.

E. F. Albee, president of B. F. Keith's, Incorporated, hopes that Gen. John J. Pershing, who proclaimed Woodfill the "greatest hero of the war," will see that the theater personally hand over the fund to the reticent mountaineer, who came from France with his medals under his coat.

Manager Roland Robbins, of the local Keith house, announced last night that "ceremonies" will be conducted tonight in keeping with Armistice Day. All Keith houses are following out this program. Robert Egan, who will speak on the significance of the day and also of Woodfill, who typifies the "American spirit."

LOVE CULT CHIEF FINED AND JAILED

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Dr. Albert Moore, who claims to be a prophet and who asserts he can raise the dead, will have an opportunity to demonstrate what he can do against prison bars. He was convicted today of operating a confidence game and sentenced to three months in jail and fined $100.

London Again Safe For Smiling Male

Aged Baron's Conviction for Flirting is Quashed by High Court.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The male Londoner can smile again. Sir Almeric Fitzroy, 71 years old, relative of the King has won this privilege back for his fellowmen. Arrested for smiling at girls in Hyde Park, Sir Almeric was convicted by the police magistrate, but he appealed, and the conviction was quashed today. But Hyde Park, henceforth, is to be closed at night.

Since the night when the police picked up Sir Almeric and dragged him off to the station house, London males have passed through Hyde Park in fear and trembling lest their smiles light on a recalcitrant female countenance. Police evidence appeared to be enough until Sir Almeric won his appeal.

London has been very serious about this thing. Many people wrote protesting letters to the newspapers.

Hyde Park at night time always has been a problem, just an ordinary problem. It became an issue of grave dimensions only when Sir Almeric, who, at 71, still smiles with all the optimism of a Voronoff youth, got himself fined $25 and $50 costs on a charge of wildly interfering with and annoying women in Hyde Park. Sir Almeric was by no means a pioneer in this indiscretion. A venerable ardeacon, chaplain to the King, was convicted of "annoyance" last year, and only saved his good name by appealing, while a worthy curate accused of staring at women cleared himself only when he proved he had a catarrh on his left eye.

Sir Almeric was convicted solely on police statements. There was a village in the place. But as the Morning Post points out, "she was not of that virginal innocence which shrinks like a sensitive plant at the mere proximity of the other sex." Her testimony was thrown out. The Women's Freedom League and the Association of Moral and Social Hygiene joined in the protest against Sir Almeric's conviction.

JUDGE WON'T HEAR TIERNAN DIVORCE

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Augustus H. Tiernan hit a snag today in an attempt to divorce Prof. John P. Tiernan, law instructor at the University of Notre Dame.

Judge Lenn J. O'Hare, of St. Joseph County Superior Court No. 2, in whose court the complaint is filed, refused to sit.

"I don't care to hear the story against Prof. Tiernan from that woman's lips after knowing of the evidence in the recent paternity case, in which Harry Poulin was charged with being the father of her last born child," Judge O'Hare declared today to Samuel Fowell.

Judge O'Hare accused Fowell of obtaining a special judge to sit. Fowell declared he would appear before the court next Monday and ask that a special judge be appointed.
